Healthy Boundaries for Clergy and Church Leaders

Purpose: These workshops are intended to equip ordained, commissioned, and licensed clergy, as well as other church leaders, to understand healthy boundaries in ministry relationships. Healthy and vital ministries rely on trust and mutual support to create spaces of welcome and safety for all. Leaders must understand the role of power, authority, and vulnerability, as well as the theology of boundaries, in order to build and maintain healthy boundaries and to choose healthy self-care strategies.

These workshops are a joint endeavor of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Georgia and the Southeast Conference of the United Church of Christ, and fulfill DOC requirements requiring such a workshop every five years to retain ministerial standing.

Materials: These workshops use materials developed by FaithTrust Institute as part of its Healthy Boundaries/ Clergy Ethics curriculum, which is in widespread use among faith communities across the U.S. FaithTrust Institute is a national, multifaith, multicultural training and education organization, founded in 1977 by the Rev. Dr. Marie Fortune, with global reach working to end sexual and domestic violence. More information is at www.faithtrustinstitute.org.

Workshop options for 2018:

Workshop Topics and Leadership

Healthy Boundaries 101 – Fundamentals is an introduction to healthy boundaries for clergy and church leaders. Topics covered include power and vulnerability; dating, friendships, and dual relationships; transference, intimacy, hugging and touch; and self-care.

Healthy Boundaries 201 – Beyond Basics and into the Internet is an advanced discussion of healthy boundaries for clergy and church leaders, designed for those who have completed Healthy Boundaries 101. Participants will review boundaries, power, vulnerability, and self-care; significant time will be devoted to internet technology and social media.

Leadership: All workshop leaders have completed Healthy Boundaries Leadership Training through the FaithTrust Institute.

The Rev. Craig A. McDonald grew up in Georgia where he earned a degree in history at Columbus State University and his Master of Divinity from Columbia Theological Seminary. He has served most recently as the senior minister at First Christian Church, Rome, GA. Prior to that he served at several churches in the Atlanta area, as both a youth minister and associate minister. He also coordinated the Dana How Scholars program at the Christian Association at the University of Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Kathy McDowell, an ordained Disciples minister, is a writer, teacher, and occasional preacher, who has taught Healthy Boundaries in Georgia since 2007. She currently is the editor of Just Women magazine, published by Disciples Women. Prior to that she served 10 years as a pastor and an associate pastor in two congregations in Georgia. She also has served on various boards for Regional and General Disciples, Disciples Women, and local nonprofits. She holds a Master of Divinity degree from Emory University.
